Section II. DEFINITIONS

Antiterrorism	Defensive measures used to reduce the vulnerability of personnel, their dependents, facilities, and equipment to terrorist acts (Joint Pub 1-02 and DOD Directive 0-2000.12).	High-risk personnel	Personnel that, by their grade, assignment, symbolic value, or relative isolation, are more likely to be attractive or accessible terrorist targets.
Battle damage assessment	A timely and accurate all-source analysis of the results of a military operation in terms of damage and impact on enemy combat effectiveness. (See strategic, operational, and tactical BDA.)	Hostage	A person held as a pledge that certain terms or agreements will be kept. (The taking of hostages is forbidden under the GPW, 1949) (Joint Pub 1-02.) Also any person held against their will as security for the performance or nonperformance of specific actions.
Combatting terrorism	Actions, including AT and CT taken to oppose terrorism throughout the entire threat spectrum (Joint Pub 1-02 and FM 100-20/AFP 3-20).	Ideology	A systematic body of concepts, especially about human life or culture, a manner or the content of thinking characteristic of an individual, group, or culture, or the integrated assertions, theories, and aims that constitute a socio-political program.
Counterterrorism	Offensive measures taken to prevent, deter, and respond to terrorism. See also antiterrorism; terrorism (Joint Pub 1-02). Also offensive measures taken to respond to a terrorist act, including the gathering of information and threat analysis in support of these measures.	Insurgency	An organized movement aimed at the overthrow of a constituted government through use of subversion and armed conflict (Joint Pub 1-02).
crisis management team	A team found at a MACOM or installation level. This team is concerned with plans, procedures, techniques, policies, and controls for dealing with terrorism, special threats or other major disruptions occurring on Government installations and facilities. It considers all aspects of the incident and establishes contact with the Emergency Operations Center.	International terrorism	Terrorism transcending national boundaries in the carrying out of the act, the purpose of the act, the nationalities of the victims, or the resolution of the incident. Acts are usually designed to attract wide publicity to focus attention on the existence, cause, or demands of the terrorists.
Extremism	The quality or state of being extreme or the advocacy of extreme political measures; radicalism.	Major disruptions	Acts, threats, or attempts to commit such acts as kidnapping, extortion, bombings, hijackings, ambushing, major weapons thefts, arson, assassination, and hostage taking on a military installation. These acts that have a potential for widespread publicity require special response, tactics, and management.		manpower management, training, and equipment.

Morality	A doctrine or system of moral conduct, particular moral principles or rule of conduct, conformity to ideals of right human conduct, or moral conduct; virtue.	Strategic BDA	Estimates a threat nation's ability to conduct or support warfare, and assists the NCA in measuring the effectiveness of military operations supporting our national policy objectives.
Non-state supported terrorism	A terrorist group that operates autonomously, receiving no significant support from any government. For example, Italy's Red Brigades (FM 100-37).	State-sponsored (or state-directed) terrorism	A terrorist group that operates as an agent of a government, receiving substantial intelligence, logistics, and operational support. In some instances, terrorist organizations have become defacto extensions of the sponsoring government. State sponsorship, by definition, includes the lesser situation of state support (FM 100-37).
Operational BDA	At the operational level, BDA measures the results of a strike or series of strikes; it estimates the remaining combat effectiveness of enemy forces and support facilities within a predetermined theater or AO.	State-supported terrorism	A terrorist group that generally operates independently but receives support from one or more governments. Support may include financing, training, equipment (including arms and explosives), issue of documentation (passports, visas, passes), furnishing operational intelligence, and furnishing abase of operations. Governments which support terrorist groups (as opposed to those which sponsor terrorist groups) are generally able to disclaim responsibility for the group's activities (plausible tenability).
Peacekeeping operations	Military operations conducted with the consent of the belligerent parties to a conflict, to maintain a negotiated truce and to facilitate diplomatic resolution of a conflict between the belligerents (FM 100-20/AFP 3-20).
Peacemaking operations	A type of peacetime contingent operation intended to establish or restore peace and order through the use of force (FM 100-20/AFP 3-20).
Peacetime contingency operations	Politically sensitive military operations normally characterized by the short-term, rapid projection or employment of forces in conditions short of war (FM 100-20/AFP 3-20).	Tactical BDA	Determines if the commander's targeting objectives were achieved within a limited AO.
Special reaction team	A specially trained team of military and security personnel armed and equipped to isolate, contain, gather information for, and, if necessary, neutralize a special threat.	Terrorism	The calculated use or use of violence or threat of violence to inculcate fear; intended to coerce or to intimidate governments or societies in the pursuit of goals that are generally political, religious, or ideological (DOD Directive 0-2000.12 and JCS Pub 1-02). Also, the unlawful use or threatened use of force or violence against individuals or
Special threat	Any situation involving a sniper, barricaded criminal, or hostage taker or any terrorist incident that requires special responses or reactions, property to coerce or intimidate governments or societies, often to achieve political, religious, or ideological objectives. See also antiterrorism; combatting terrorism; counterterrorism. Terrorism involves a criminal act that is often symbolic in nature and intended to influence an audience beyond the immediate victims. (A CIA working definition: A method of combat where the victim of violence is not the actual target of the attack.)

Terrorist group

A political, religious, or ideological oriented group which uses terrorism as its prime mode of operations.
