[2.0] Support a Free and Democratic Iraq ñ Developments

Constitution Update:

- USAIDís partner providing support to the constitutional development process held a meeting entitled ìThe Effect of the Constitution: the Step after the Referendumî for 25 lawyers - including seven women - from unions, private practice law offices and NGOs. NGO lawyers gained a better understanding of the role of the constitution in protecting the rights of the citizens of Iraq.

Local Governance:

- Representatives of USAIDís Local Governance Program (LGP) recently met with eight members of the Babil Provincial Council (PC) to discuss a workshop on federalism and to review its governing bodiesí policy and procedures. The Babil PC recently issued the following decisions which reflect the impact of LGP training on its decision making process:
  - Babil PC, as part of its organizational and oversight role, has asked citizens to send representatives to meet the PC rather than organizing public demonstrations.
  - The PC used lessons learned from USAID CD-ROM training materials on ìSources of Authority and Council Work Methodsî to work with the Ministry of Communications on an offer presented by a telecommunications company regarding a project in the province.
[2.0] Support a Free and Democratic Iraq ñ Developments

Transitional National Assembly (TNA) Update:

ï In June, a follow-up training for TNA members was held through USAID that focused on strengthening members' knowledge of the nuances of parliamentary business. The workshop highlighted the important role of committee structure and management within the legislature. Participants learned about public consultations, work procedures, oversight techniques, committee leadership duties, staff roles, how to use their expertise efficiently, the role of public hearings in a transparent legislature, and conducting public hearings. A second workshop trained TNA representatives on the role of caucuses and civil society.

Continuing TNA Responsibilities:

ñ Serve as Iraq's national legislature until the election of a new government under a permanent constitution.

ñ According to the Transitional Administrative Law, the TNA is to draft Iraq's new Constitution by August 15, 2005; this will be presented to the Iraqi people for their approval in a national referendum by October 15, 2005.

ñ If it is approved, an election for a permanent Iraqi government under that new Constitution will occur by the end of 2005.

Electricity load served increased last week (July 4 - 11) to an average of 110,600 MWh (above the Summer 2005 goal).

Average hours of available power were 14 hours in Baghdad and nationwide. However, we have received reports that the South-Central governorates (Babil, Najaf and Qadisiyah) are receiving 6-8 hours per day.
Oil Update:

- Crude oil prices in world markets for the week ending July 8 closed with the following prices:
  - Basra Light at $52.46/barrel
  - Dated Brent at $57.87/barrel
  - Oman/Dubai at $54.75/barrel
  - WTI Cushing at $60.31/barrel

- During the US - Iraq Joint Commission on Reconstruction and Economic Development in Amman, July 10 - 11, bilateral energy consultations were held between the Iraqi Oil and Electricity Ministries and the US Departments of Energy and State, covering issues such as developing a needs assessment and Iraqís natural gas utilization for power generation.

- The US Trade and Development Agency and the Iraqi Oil Ministry agreed on a training program for Ministry staff, addressing needs identified by senior-level Ministry of Oil officials.

Telecommunications:

- The three major cell phone companies in Iraq (Asiacell, Iraqna, and Atheer) continue to enroll new subscribers at healthy rates. As of June 27, there were 2,804,147 active cellular subscribers in Iraq. Landline telephone subscribers in Iraq have also increased to 997,675. Prior to Operation Iraqi Freedom, there were approximately 833,000 landline subscribers.
[3.0] Provide Essential Services ñ Water and Sanitation

Water and Sanitation:

ï PCO has 80 water treatment projects underway and has completed 46 to date. Under the Accelerated Iraq Reconstruction Program (AIRP) program, there are a further seven water treatment projects under construction and 43 have been completed. The total water treatment capacity to be added from PCO projects is approximately 1.0 million cubic meters per day.

ï Two irrigation canal cleaning projects are underway in Ninewa and Diyala governorates. The projects will improve access to water supply, benefiting the surrounding communities through increased agricultural production. The canal maintenance projects are funded by USAIDís Agricultural Research and Development for Iraq (ARDI) program.

ï The 24-km long irrigation canal in Diyala serves 3,000 residents of nine villages, providing irrigation for 11,000 donums planted to rice, sun flower, cotton, sesame and vegetables. The 14.5 km-long irrigation canal in Ninewa serves 1,025 residents of five villages, who depend on irrigation to cultivate 2,575 donums of peach orchards and vegetable crops.

ï The ARDI grant will provide funding to hire local farmers to clean the irrigation canals. In Diyala, 70 Iraqis will be hired for the 60-day project. In Ninawa, 95 Iraqis will complete the cleaning in 30 days. They will receive hand tools and other equipment for canal cleaning, as well as basic training.
Health Care:

- Construction is underway on 150 new primary health care (PHC) facilities across Iraq. Under the AIRP, an additional two PHCs are under construction and eight have been completed.

- A total of 5,098 beds will be distributed to hospitals throughout Iraq between June and December. Once PCO delivers the beds to each governorate, the Director General of each governorate is charged with distributing the equipment to local hospitals based on need.

  - Three hundred beds have been delivered. This project is the beginning of $109 million in open distribution equipment to be delivered throughout Iraq.

- USAID recently approved a grant to fund a training program to improve livestock breeding techniques and educate the rural population about the prevention of zoonotic diseases in Iraqi villages. Traditional methods of breeding have contributed to the spread of diseases to humans.

  - Women are particularly susceptible to such diseases as they typically feed the animals, handle the newborns, and process animal products. The MOA/USAID Zoonotic Disease Extension and Awareness Program will provide training to 4,800 women in 240 villages to improve breeding techniques.
[3.0] Provide Essential Services ñ Education

Education:

- A total of 3,065 schools have been rehabilitated to date, and a further 776 are undergoing rehabilitation.

- PCO has completed 635 schools renovations to date and a further 61 are under construction. Under the AIRP, an additional 24 school renovations have been completed and 16 are underway. 840 schools are scheduled for completion by mid-2005.

- A key initiative of the Legal Education Reform partnership between DePaul University and three Iraqi law colleges under USAIDís Higher Education and Development (HEAD) program is to improve existing curricula in Iraqi law schools, especially in human rights, international criminal law, and international trade law.

  ñ To achieve quick results, specialized curriculum consultative committees initially focused on changes that can be adopted through the 15-20 percent curriculum discretion Iraqi law professors have for their subjects. The committees also developed recommendations for later national curriculum reform.

  ñ A recent committee accomplishment that will help bring law instruction closer to international standards is the development of a listing of 200 to 250 key legal terms in English that faculty and students will need to understand in current international law literature, which includes frequent terms uncommon to Arabic. The legal terms will be distributed to all law professors teaching international law courses.
[4.0] Establish Foundation for a Strong Economy ñ Iraqi Stock Exchange and Job Creation

[5.0] Promote the Rule of Law ñ Iraqi Judicial System

Jaíafari: Saddamís Trial Is An Iraqi Matter:
î Iraqi Prime Minister Jaíafari said July 11 that Saddamís trial is a purely Iraqi matter and foreign forces have no right to interfere in it. Jaíafari added, îSaddamís trial will be a great example to the world of the integrity of Iraqi justice. Iraqi justice is solely responsible for Saddamís trial and the whole world witnessed the bad acts of the previous regime, including human rights violations, mass graves and civil war in the northern part of Iraq. The jurisdiction of justice in Iraq is independent, and we want the trial to be fast, but not rash.î

Supreme Court Approves Death For Three Ansar Al Sunna Members:
î The head of the Criminal Court in Kut said that the Supreme Court in Iraq has approved death sentences for three Iraqis who were convicted of homicide, kidnappings, and looting in Al Wihata and Al Suwana, south of Baghdad. The three were connected with the Ansar Al Sunna, a terrorist group that is connected with Al Qaeda. The Kut Criminal Court on May 22 issued death sentences for the three Iraqis, but the judgment required the Supreme Courtís approval to be carried out.
[6.0] Maintain Intíl Engagement & Support ñ Developments

ï On July 5, 109 Azerbaijani servicemen left for Iraq to serve in the city of Hadida with international coalition forces. They will replace their counterparts who have completed their mission.

ï Egypt will reduce the number of staff at its mission in Baghdad, Foreign Minister Ahmed Aboul Gheit told reporters on July 8, one day after the Egyptian presidency confirmed Egyptian Charge d’Affaires Ihab el-Sherifís death at the hands of kidnappers. The Foreign Minister did not say when the move would be implemented.

ï Iraqi officials say they hope nations will not pull diplomatic staff from Iraq after an al-Qaida threat to attack envoys. An Iraqi spokesman urged other countries not to be intimidated by the threats.

ï On July 7, Japanese Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumo said his country had no plans to withdraw its forces from Iraq now despite a series of bomb attacks in London. ìThis is not an issue that is directly linked,î Koizumi said when asked about the issue after the London attacks, specifying there were no plans for an immediate withdrawal from Iraq.
